

Loud and Clear

Overview: RCF's HDL30-A Cabinet

Specifics: RCF's HDL30-A is the newest model in the HDL family of line array products. The HDL30-A offers full-range frequency response down to 50 hertz, linear response and zero-degree phase. A compact, 2,200-watt, bi-amped, two-way cabinet, the HDL30-A features two neodymium 10-inch woofers coupled with a 4-inch voice coil high-frequency compression driver mounted on a time coherent 100°x15° 4PATH waveguide. RCF has specifically matched each component for optimal performance, and the company manufactures the cabinet and transducers. Crossover point for the high-frequency driver is 680 hertz, with woofers offering response down to 50 hertz while achieving SPL levels up to 137 decibels. The cabinet's DSP features FIRPHASE FIR filtering technology that optimizes dynamics, amplitude and phase patterns, ensuring transparent sound and clarity. The HDL30-A also includes RCF's RDNet onboard.

I'm the Wanderer

Overview: Kala Brand Music Co.'s Wanderer, Passenger and Journeyman U-Basses

Specifics: Kala Brand Music Co. has released three new U-Bass models: Wanderer, Passenger and Journeyman. These new models are offered at a lower price point to reach more prospective players while maintaining Kala's dedication to sound and quality. These U-Bass models are made from mahogany. The Wanderer is stripped down to the bare essentials to give it a clean, no-frills look. The Passenger features subtle white binding and rosette adornments for an austere appearance. The Journeyman is the most stylized, with white binding, decorative f-holes and a cutaway. Other features include a mahogany neck, Aquila Thundergut strings and a satin finish.

MSRP: Wanderer: $269.99; Passenger: $299.99; Journeyman: $359.99
